Plague—Plague-Infected Wild Rodents—Typhus Fever.

During the week ended February 26, 1921, a death from plague was reported in the Kroonstad district of the Orange Free State, Union of South Africa. The case was previously reported as occurring on a farm in the Bothaville area. The carcasses of two wild rodents taken from this locality were found plague infected, thus confirming the suspicion referred to in the report for the week ended December 4, 1920,¹ that infection exists among and is being perpetuated and spread by wild rodents and probably also by smaller carnivora.

During the week ended February 26, 1921, fresh outbreaks of typhus fever were reported in the Cape Province, Union of South Africa.
